LABOR DAY QUIET

Lowell People Observed It
Mainly by Leaving Town

Yesterday was Labor Day and it was not a very lively one in Lowell. The dignity of toil was not pictured with the vigor of years that have gone.

There was no celebration here and thousands of Lowell people flocked to the beaches and the country, disappointed perhaps that Lowell was minus her usual celebration but ever appreciative of the fact that:

"Toll swings the ax, and forests bow;
The gods break out in radiant bloom,
Rich harvests smile behind the plow,
And cities cluster round the boun;

Where towering domes and tapering spires

Adorn the vale and crown the hill,

Stein labor lights its beacon fires,

And plumes with smoke the forge and mill.

The ball game at Spalding park, the last New England league ball game of the year, was the biggest event in Lowell. The attendance was very large. The Hibernian outing at Mountain Rock attracted an attendance of about 200.

The weather in the forenoon was not at all inspiring and it looked as if it was "all off" for the outings that had been planned. At noon, however, the sky cleared and the weather took on the "good fellow" aspect with the result that every car left that Merrimack square regardless of what direction it was going, was heaving laden. Everybody was having a good time except perhaps the narrow-neck who likes to grunt and grumble and who refuses to see farther than his nose.

Prominent among the many outings were the Wolf Tone Guards at Natickett, Company G's trip to Wonderland; the shoot of the Lowell Gun Club in Chelmsford, the cricket game in South Lowell and the railroad clerks at Willow Dale.

DIVISION S. A. O. II.

The pouring rain on Labor Day though rather disappoinding did not in any way dampen the ardor of the Hibernians and hundreds of members were on the grounds at Mountain Rock shortly after noon. Among the events on the program was a baseball game; military drill exhibition; running races, etc. Each event was closely contested and results in all cases were excitingly close. John C. O'Rourke had general charge of the sports. In the evening dancing was enjoyed.

WENT TO REVERE.

The Trade and Labor Council held their annual outing at Revere on Labor Day. The party left this city early in the morning and returned to Lowell. The sights of Wonderland were enjoyed. The party returned late in the evening to Lowell.

WENT TO CRESCENT PARK.

The Eagles held an outing at Crescent park yesterday. The party left early in the morning and returned to Lowell late last night.

WOLF TONE GUARDS.

The Wolf Tone Guards held their annual outing at Natickett pond on Labor Day. Companies from Lawrence and Haverhill were in attendance. The drill between the companies was won by the Haverhill boys under the command of Captain Driscoll. The football match was well fought, but Haverhill finally carried off the laurels. Dancing was enjoyed in the evening.

CO. G SHOOT.

Co. G. Sixth regiment, held a target practice at Drane's range on Labor Day. At noon a good dinner was enjoyed in the upper hall of the range house. Ex-Captain Wm. Fairweather was one of the guests at dinner. After dinner a special car took the party to Wonderland park, where they enjoyed the sights till a late hour. Co. C kept open house at Camp Phalanx, Tyngsboro on Labor Day. At noon dinner was served. Priv. Lemay proving himself a capable chef.

CRICKET GAMES.

An interesting game of cricket was played on the Zion crease at South Lowell on Labor Day between the West India Wanderers and the Zions. The game commenced at 11 a. m. Hindoo of the Zions played a very good game, as did Croft of the local club, as did

Intermission was taken at 2 p. m. and refreshments served. After an all day game the totals were Zions 10½, Wanderers, 8½.

HELD IN $2100 FIVE ALDERMEN

John Clancy on Man-Appearance in Court House This Morning

An unknown man who was picked up in Graham street, near Moore street, Sunday morning, in an unconscious condition, died at the Emergency hospital about 5 o'clock last evening. It was alleged that one John Clancy had dealt the unknown a blow in the face, knocking him down and causing concussion of the brain which was followed by cerebral hemorrhage and paralysis.

John Clancy was arrested Sunday evening and was booked on the charge of assault. He refused to talk when interviewed by the police. When questioned as to the identity of the man Clancy said he had never seen him before.

CLANCY ARRANGED.

Clancy was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court today on the charge of drunkenness and manslaughter.

William A. Hogan appeared for him and waived reading of the complaint. The case was continued for one week and in the meantime it will be referred to the grand jury. Clancy was ordered to recognize in the sum of $200.

ASSAULTED HIS WIFE

Concord Street Man Fined in Court Today

John Creighton, 42, was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court today on a complaint charging him with assault and battery on his wife, Lizzie, who is 46 years his junior. The Creightons live in Concord street.

William H. Wilson appeared for the government and Larkin T. Trull for the defendant.

The complainant, Lizzie A. Creighton, testified, in part, as follows:

"My wife of John Creighton. We have been married four months. We had trouble August 26. I was talking with Mrs. Mary Halowell and two children on the sidewalk. He told Mrs. Halowell to go home. I went into the house and he followed me. He struck me as I stood in the kitchen. He hit me with his fist in the face and then struck me on the head with the stove lifter, breaking it in half and inflicting a cut in my head that was stitched by doctors at St. John's hospital."

Witness produced the stove lifter that she alleged was broken on her head. Cross-examined witness said that she was talking with Mrs. Halowell and two children on the sidewalk, she said:

"Mrs. Creighton lived at my home before she was married. They were married from my house."

Mrs. Halowell said that on the evening of the assault she was talking with Mrs. Creighton at the latter's home. She was standing on the sidewalk, she said.

Mr. Creighton asked her what she was doing there.

"I didn't come to see you," she said. Mrs. Halowell did not witness the assault but heard Mrs. Creighton curse for help.

"My wife went into the house. I followed her in and she said:

"What did you mean you — old rascal by insulting that woman?"

"She grabbed a stove cover and hit me on the leg. Then she dug her fingers into my face and eyes and in order to break her hold I had to hit her on the head with the stove lifter. When she was going away she tugged at my collar and pulled the whole rigging off. I had to defend myself or she would have pulled my eyes out."

Cross-examined by Mr. Wilson, the following dialogue ensued:

"What's your business?"

"Nothing."

"You drink in the saloons don't you?"

"When I feel like it."

"Get pretty drunk, don't you?"

"I do, 12."

"I ask you if you do."

"I'm trying to find out."

"I don't think I ever get drunk."

"You had a revolver taken away from you July 4, didn't you?"

"Yes, I did."

"And you didn't get it back for quite a while?"

"I didn't."

"I'm asking you."

"I got it back when I asked for it. The revolver was delivered at the house by the officer who took it."

"You threatened to shoot your wife, didn't you?"

"I did not."

"She came running out of the house," she said, "and told us to go for a doctor. She was dripping with blood."

MR. CREIGHTON'S TESTIMONY.

Mr. Creighton testified: "I have lived in Lowell for 35 years. I have never been in any court before. I live in Concord street. I lived with my first wife 35 years. She has been dead about three years. I knew my present wife a few months before marrying her."

"After we were married, Mrs. Halowell came to my house and made trouble. On the evening of the trouble Mrs. Halowell was talking with my wife at my house and I told her to go home."

Judge Hadley found Mr. Creighton guilty of the assault charged and ordered him to pay a fine of $20. Mr. Creighton appealed.

It is understood that Mr. Creighton has with considerable evidence which he thinks may strengthen his case if it goes to the higher court.

THE DRUNKEN OFFENDERS.

John H. Richardson, Patrick Fele, Daniel J. Ryan, Napoleon Rondour, and Daniel E. Sullivan were fined $6 each.

It was William H. Dyer's thirty-third appearance before the court since he made his initial bow. He was sentenced to five months in jail.

FUTURITY RACE HIPPLE STRONG BOX INSURGENT LEADER THE GRAND JURY

Contest for $50,000 Purse Slated for Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Futurity day toward which turfmen and lovers of the sport of thoroughbred racing have been looking with the ever-increasing interest born of a craving to proclaim a champion, has arrived. Down at Sheephead bay, regarded by many as the most beautiful race course in America, all hands were busy today completing the preparations for handling the greatest crowd of the racing season and putting the last touches on the famed futurity course which has been raked and harrowed and rolled until it is as fast as human ingenuity and the expenditure of money can make it. Billowing racing weather is promised for this afternoon, the unsettled conditions of the past week or ten days having given way to deep blue skies with just a haze of early autumn on the horizon. Considering the caliber of the two year olds named to go in today's big race, and the splendid condition of the track, horsemen are looking forward to a record breaking performance over the six furlong course which leads to victory and a prize estimated in value at nearly $50,000. No higher class field of thoroughbreds has ever gone to a futurity past than that which will respond to the bugle at 4 o'clock this afternoon. It is not a race where one or two horses stand out from the rest as was the case in 1904, when the immortal Swooney and Artful and Tradition were the contestants and again in 1903 when Hamburg Belle romped home alone in a sea of mud. This year's field also is in striking contrast to that of last year in which Ormondale had a comparatively easy victory over a poor lot of two-year-olds, who ordinarily should have been left in their boxes on a futurity day.

The more horsemen consider today's race the more open the contest looks and there are at least ten horses out of the sixteen which on public performances or private trials have an excellent chance of annexing the richest turf prize of the year.

James P. Keene, with three horses named to sport his silks, including Peter Pan, who has earned to watch by his many victories this year, seems to have the best chance of winning the futurity of 1906. Peter Pan is a host himself and since his recent performance in Saratoga, the pounds to bet today on the favorite stakes of Scotland. In fact, there are many students of the turf who are willing to accord him first place among the odds of the year, as running mate, Peter Pan will beat Pope Joan, declared by many to be the fastest filly of the year, and Zappino, a new one, scheduled to make his debut this afternoon in the highest of thoroughbreds. Mr. Keene's entry will be the favorite unquestionably.

Herold E. and De Mundi, for whom Paul Radney paid $14,500 after a sensational half mile work out in the early spring, are both highly favored for the futurity, with Herold E. having just a shade on De Mundi, whose staying qualities are question. For half a mile there is not a horse in the country probably that can keep step with De Mundi but the futurity runner lacks just two-fifths of a furlong of being a mile and this may be beyond the range of the best footed fellow.

Oran from the Ormondale stable; Conville, A. Madden, and Hitchcock Trice, who will have Golf Ball as a running companion; Electra and Kentucky Bear, all will be heavily backed to win and it would not be a great surprise to anyone if the victor should come from this assortment. Yankee Girl, Altuda, Purslane, Old

The Life Partner of a Man Whose Millions Were to Have and to Hold, but Never to Be Spent--Loyal to Her Husband's Interests and Still a Public Favorite.

AMONG all the various transactions conceived and carried out to ultimate success by the late Russell Sage the one which brought him his second wife was the most satisfactory. During his lifetime he admitted it on several occasions. It seems to have been the one bit of sentiment that he allowed to take root in his peculiarly un-sentimental nature and he had the satisfaction of knowing that the whole world agreed with him on this one point at least.

For it was discovered long years ago that this man of millions held in his possession a treasure more to be desired than all the fine gold he might ever succeed in accumulating. He, too, master of an instinct for acquisition that was almost marvelous, knew it and was gratified that it was patent to all others. Grim materialist that he was wedded not so indissolubly, perhaps, to his millions as to his methods of securing them, it added greatly to his comfort to have for the mistress of his household the one woman who could accomplish the apparently impossible feat of being perfectly loyal to her husband's interests and still retain the public esteem.

It is probably true that Russell Sage cared as little for public opinion in its personal application as any man who ever lived. It is quite as likely that he was correspondingly insistent on the world's good opinion of his wife. That she knew how to maintain a position so anomalous and so difficult—the life partner of a man whose millions were to have and to hold, but never to be spent—is a mighty tribute to her worth.

Mrs. Sage, whose maiden name was Margaret Olivia Slocum, is of the lineage of Miles Standish. She was named Olivia after her great-grandmother, Olivia Standish, who was the great-granddaughter of the redoubtable Indian fighter. She is now an elderly woman, born in the summer of 1828, at Syracuse, N. Y. Hers is indeed an old face, but it is both sweet and strong. There are in it the infallible marks of a strong character and noble purpose. Her eyes, still very bright and most kindly, reveal the intelligence behind them. Her snowy hair is coiled neatly on top of her head and in front falls over her plumed forehead in a row of half curls, that characteristic coiffure of the gentle bred New England matron.

Hers is the character our forefathers of the middle of the last century found ideal. It was the age when intellectuality was not permitted to flourish at the expense of deference to old age, refinement of manner and those strong domestic virtues which were esteemed so important a part of a woman's personality. It was the pattern which was held out alluringly to schoolgirls, with the admonition that it would be well to follow it as closely as possible. It was the ideal of womanhood which Mrs. Sage has never relinquished. In an address made to the graduating class of the Emma Willard seminary on the fiftieth anniversary of her own

Receiver Earle Wants to See What it Contains

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1.—The creditors of the Real Estate Trust Co., which failed last Tuesday, are still without any definite knowledge of the true condition of the institution.

Receiver Earle says that the maps of property he has yet to go through are great. "I do not believe," he declares, "there is any collateral here that amounts to much except that furnished by Adolph Segal, who borrowed more than $500,000 from the company."

Public attention was called today to William F. North, the treasurer of the trust company and Horace Hill, the auditor. Some of the directors feel that these men in the course of their duties should have discovered Mr. Hill's peculiar irregular transactions. Mr. North refused to talk and in his defense says all the activities he engaged were regular and he saw nothing wrong.

The receiver is anxious to open the strong box and desk of President Hippel and has notified the attorneys of the Hippel family of his desire.

The report that certain directors and their relatives withdrew their investments from the company after they knew it was insolvent, are denied by the officers.

Desiring to remove with his stepmother from the scene of the recent tragedy, F. Whitman Hippel, son of the dead president, has decided to dispose of all the household effects now at his home in the country home to Bryn Mawr and dutifully

Captured by the Cuban Rural Guards

HAVANA, Sept. 1.—Despatches from Santiago de Cuba announce that rural guards have surrounded the town of Songo and have captured Urbano Sanchez, the insurgent leader, there.

The recruiting of insurgents in Santiago, the governor of that province, assets, has proved unsuccessful and he adds that he has a military force at his disposal with which he can quickly crush an uprising in any portion of the island. He is holding a special train, fully equipped, constantly in waiting at the railroad station, ready to be despatched to the scene of any uprising.

It is rumored here that a number of insurgents at Paracoa, at the extreme eastern end of the province of Santiago, have taken up arms, several leaders and of that place having disappeared.

The politicians are preoccupied with preparations for the election of a vice-president of the national assembly, which will take place next week.

The leading candidates are Senors Obaldia and Guardia with the probabilities favoring Obaldia.

During the afternoon despatches were received from Puerto Principe, announcing that Gen. Castillo, with 400 men had started from Moron in pursuit of a band of insurgents who had crossed the line from the province of Santa Clara.

Three hundred insurgents under Gen. Carillo and Campes Marquetti, the negro congressman, today occupied Bahia Honda on the north coast of Havana province. More than fifty residents of the town have already joined the band. This body of insurgents does not interfere with the property of Americans or other foreigners.

ANTI-TRUST LEAGUE

Endorsed Bryan's Speech at Madison Square Garden

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—William J. Bryan today received from the American Anti-Trust League the following letter endorsing his speech of Thursday night at Madison Square Garden, especially that portion referring to a war on trusts and the government ownership of railroads:

"On behalf of the American Anti-Trust League and expressing as we firmly believe, the sentiments of the great majority of good citizens who are opposed alike to the evils of monopoly and the dangers of socialism, we welcome you home and express to you our gratitude and appreciation for aid of your great speech of Thursday night at Madison Square Garden and more especially for your invincible stand in the face of the regulation, but the destruction of the railroad trusts and for the government ownership of railroads. We hold that the experience of all civilized nations has firmly established the principle that the maintenance of highways is one of the chief functions of government, one of the few great attributes of society of which no state can divest itself without endangering the very existence of the government and utterly destroying that great principle of equality of rights which is the very cornerstone of the American republic. We rejoice in your courage and are proud of the ability with which you are teaching the doctrines of Jeffersonian democracy and the principles of the American Anti-Trust League. We recognize your leadership in America in the coming battle for achievement of the last and greatest of the rights of man, namely the economic liberty of all men and women. We pledge you our hearty and enthusiastic support and bid you God speed in the good work."

TO HANDLE WAGERS AT SHEEPSHEAD HEAD.

SHEEPSHEAD BAY, New York, Sept. 1.—Perfect weather with not a cloud in the sky, marked Futurity Day at Sheepshead Bay today. The track is dry and hard and as sixteen of the fleetest two-year-olds ever bred in this country are named to start in the richest stake of the year, there is a strong probability that the track record may be lowered.

Over 200 bookmakers drew in today to handle the public's wagers. The futurity is so open a race that the betting promises to be the heaviest of the year.

There is No Good Reason Against Good Insurance

No any substitute for it. Wherever failure to live means financial loss, there is call for Insurance. Your life is of financial value to another—your family, partners or business? If so, Life Insurance deserves your attention, and deserves it now. Your fortune will be better than their afterthought. If when it comes to the best kind of Life Insurance, men do not all think alike. There is no desirable kind that cannot be obtained from THE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY. This is the oldest active Life Insurance Company in America, and the largest and stanchest in the world. It is a Mutual Company. It has no stockholders. Its assets belong to its policy-holders. It has paid them dividends continuously for fifty-six years. Taking its history through, has done as well for its policy-holders as any company. It should have done better, as has recently been shown. Under the present management all policy-holders may expect unusually favorable results. This is made reasonable by the facts that it is a strictly Mutual Company, operated under New York laws, which are now the best in the world; that its great volume of business means smaller share of expenses on each policy, and that the new methods and economies, which are now a part of its constitution, will save immense sums which must go to the policy-holders, as the only proper place.

Mr. Charles E. Hughes, who became famous by conducting the investigation of the Legislative Committee and who speaks with authority, has recently said: "We have had great companies exposed to close and unsparing analysis, only to find that their solidity was as rock of Gibraltar. I would rather take insurance in a New York company not so restricted, and I believe that will be the sentiment of the people of these United States."

THE BUTLERS WON

The Lowell Tub Beat World's Record

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 1.—Fifteen hand tubs, each accompanied by a strong company of men, took part in the drummer's muster which was held at the Nashua fair grounds yesterday afternoon.

The muster was one of the most successful ever held here, but there were less entries than last season. The weather was bad for the playout and after a shifting wind blew this down the stream and then across it.

The highest score was made by the Gen. Butler of Lowell with the wind blowing a goal down the track and the rain falling heavily. Because of the conditions of the weather and wind a number of the participating teams protested against the awarding of the first money to the Gen. Butlers.

At noon there was a parade of the various companies from the railroad stations to the grounds. Nearly every company was accompanied by its drum corps or band and a mascot. A great number of women were attracted to the grounds and took active part in the cheering. The officials of the playout were: Everett S. Putnam and Charles D. Lund, Judges at nozzle; William F.

DEMANDED NOMIN- ATION PAPERS

Without Putting Down the Cash

Arthur W. Lang of ward 8 is going to run for the legislature from ward 8 and he isn't going to pay the assessment, either.

Mr. Lang appeared at the republican headquarters yesterday and demanded nomination papers, stating that he would be a candidate and that he did not intend to pay any assessment. Clerk Gowen shifted the responsibility onto Chairman David who was not present and Mr. Lang went away. A short time afterward he returned with Superintendent McVey as counsel. Mr. Lang then stated that he would make a legal demand for the papers and he was informed that they would be forthcoming at the proper time.

Candidates are not obliged to settle with the committee but it has been a time honored custom of both city committees to assess candidates for the expenses of the headquarters and few candidates have ever balked at the assessment.

THE LATE MITCHELL BROSNAH. A POPULAR HIGH SCHOOL BOY.

HIGH CLASS DRUGGISTS AND - OTHERS.

The better class of druggists, everywhere, are men of scientific attainments and high integrity, who devote their lives to the welfare of their fellow men in supplying the best of remedies and purest medicinal agents of known value, in accordance with physicians' prescriptions and scientific formulae. Druggists of the better class manufacture many excellent remedies, but always under original or official names and they never sell false brands, or imitation medicines. They are the men to deal with when in need of anything in their line, which usually includes all standard remedies and corresponding adjuncts of a first-class pharmacy and the finest and best of toilet articles and preparations and many useful accessories and remedial appliances. The earning of a fair living, with the satisfaction which arises from a knowledge of the benefits conferred upon their patrons and assistance to the medical profession, is usually their greatest reward for long years of study and many hours of daily toil. They all know that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative remedy and that it gives universal satisfaction, and therefore they are selling many millions of bottles annually to the well informed purchasers of the choicest remedies, and they always take pleasure in handing out the genuine article bearing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package. They know that in cases of colds and headaches attended by biliousness and constipation and of weakness or torpidity of the liver and bowels; arising from irregular habits, indigestion, or over-eating, that there is no other remedy so pleasant, prompt and beneficial in its effects as Syrup of Figs, and they are glad to sell it because it gives universal satisfaction.

Owing to the excellence of Syrup of Figs, the universal satisfaction which it gives and the immense demand for it, imitations have been made, tried and condemned, but there are individual druggists to be found, here and there, who do not maintain the dignity and principles of the profession and whose greed gets the better of their judgment, and who do not hesitate to recommend and try to sell the imitations in order to make a larger profit. Such preparations sometimes have the name—"Syrup of Figs"—or "Fig Syrup" and of some piratical concern, or fictitious fig syrup company, printed on the package, but they never have the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of the package. The imitations they find it necessary to resort to misrepresentation or deception, and whenever a dealer passes off on a customer a preparation under the name of "Syrup of Figs" or "Fig Syrup," which does not bear the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of the package, he is attempting to deceive and mislead the patron who has been so unfortunate as to enter his establishment, whether it be large or small, for if the dealer resorts to misrepresentation and deception in one case he will do so with other medicinal agents, and in the filling of physicians' prescriptions, and should be avoided by every one who values health and happiness. Knowing that the great majority of druggists are reliable, we supply the immense demand for our excellent remedy entirely through the druggists, of whom it may be purchased everywhere, in original packages only, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, but as exceptions exist it is necessary to inform the public of the facts, in order that all may decline or return any imitation which may be sold to them. If it does not bear the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, do not hesitate to return the article and to demand the return of your money, and in future go to one of the better class of druggists who will sell you what you wish and the best of everything in his line at reasonable prices.

SWORN CIRCULATION OF THE SUN

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1905 was

14,829

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Piatte pressman of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1906.

JOHN J. HOGAN, Notary Public.

This is a larger circulation than the combined circulation of all the other daily papers in Lowell.

An advertisement placed in The Sun is of more value to the advertiser than if it were inserted in all the other newspapers in Lowell, and the cost of inserting it in The Sun is about ONE-THIRD the price charged by the other papers.

Burnt for the Butler Vets! Let every Lowell voter leap six feet in the air! The Butler tub has broken the world's record. Hurrah! Hurrah! for the Butlers. But some are mean enough to say that the wind did it. Always somebody trying to get the laurels from the victors!

It was a dull Labor day in Lowell. There was an exodus of people out of town because there was no attraction in town. It pays to have attractions that not only keep the people at home but bring strangers here by the thousands.

UNITED STATES SPELLING.

The United States will be set down as the one country using the English language that has discarded the established rules of spelling. Incorrect spelling in England is regarded as an unmistakable sign of a defective education and it generally is so—but in this country there seems to be a sort of contempt for taking the trouble to acquire the art of spelling correctly.

PRESIDENT'S SPELLING LESSON.

President Roosevelt has taken back water on his simplified spelling proclamation. Now he says that if it does not meet with popular approval it will be dropped. We understand from the president's latest communication that the proposed changes will be applied with considerable reserve. We are not likely to find "clipt," "supt" and "kist" written in any public document.

THE MAYOR'S ANNOUNCEMENT.

Now that Mayor Casey has decided to run for a third term, we may see an early alignment of the candidates. Who's next?

It was supposed by many of the mayor's friends that he would enter the congressional fight; but his statement settles that. There is still no candidate for congress on the democratic side although there is a good fighting chance for a strong candidate. The democratic aspirants on the Lawrence end are not as numerous as formerly.

THE CROAKERS AT IT AGAIN.

The croaking habit is not forgotten by some of the so-called democratic sheets that bolted Bryan in 1896. They hate to acknowledge their error by giving him cordial support. They cannot now oppose his candidacy. They cannot condemn his principles, but still they hate to acknowledge his lies and enemy and their own disowning. They say it is too soon to single out any man for candidate that a man so elected has two years in which to say or do something that may give him with the people. They deserve sympathy in their anxiety for the future success of Bryan and the democratic party, but judging from their croakings they are only afraid of the success rather than the failure of both.

NO JOINT STATEHOOD FOR ARIZONA.

The republican program to unite Arizona and New Mexico as one state appears to be defeated in advance of the vote being taken. Arizona refuses to be merged with New Mexico and sink her identity and political independence. The leading republican organs of the two territories have evidently given up the fight. The Phoenix organ advises its partisans not to nominate joint statesmen for the office of county offices, because, it says: "It will be impossible to elect any man to office who is not avowedly opposed to joint statehood." The Tucson Citizen says: "An overwhelming majority of the people of Arizona are opposed to jointure and will settle with the jointists at the ballot box."

The Albuquerque (N. M.) Journal admits defeat of the joint statehood and cannot close its eyes to the "very palpable fact that the people of Arizona are overwhelmingly opposed to the proposition and will, therefore, defeat it."

Thus again is the democratic position on this statehood matter approved by the people who are interested.

NEW YORK OFFICES STOLEN BY REPUBLICANS.

Just now there is a factional fight on among the republicans of N. Y. and the anti-administration faction is kicking vigorously to get a chance at the flesh pots. Thus we find the New York Sun, which is controlled by the Morgan crowd, telling some home truths when it says: "It is a long time since the people of this state had anything to do with their own government. They have been permitted to vote for certain candidates for office, but not to choose those candidates."

"Is there today in public office, high or low, in the state of New York a single man who occupies his place as the choice of the people? Not one."

"It is time that the people usurped their own powers—reassured their faculty and their right of choice. The suffrage is a mockery otherwise."

Not one republican official the choice of the voters! That is a terrible indictment of republican machine politics. Turn the ruspals out.

The worst days of Tammany in New York scarcely justified any such charge as that. Yet that is the confession of a republican organ deplored the rotteness of its own party.

WATER FRONT PARKS.

Mr. Editor—I approve very highly of your suggestion for water front parks not only on Anne street but along the canals in other parts of the city. There is space for another along the canal bank back of the Massachusetts storehouse. Why not have these put in charge of the park board?

Yours,

SUN READER.

The idea of water front parks seems to strike a popular chord. Before the park commission was created the Middlesex Woman's club agitated the matter of parks along the river front but somehow the matter has been dropped. There is no reason why the park board should not take the matter up, designate the most desirable places and ascertain on what terms they can be secured. There is a splendid tract for a park on the Centralville side above the bridge and below the bridge at the First street oval and Indian Orchard. There are also a good many other strips of vacant land along the banks of the canals besides the two mentioned, and as all are idle there seems to be no reason why they should not be turned over to the city for park purposes. Let us start with the Anne street park and then the others will come in due time.

SEEN AND HEARD

The younger man had been complaining that they could not get his wife to mind his clothes.

"I asked her to sew a button on this vest last night, and she hasn't touched it," he said. At this the older man retorted: "The art of a parrot."

"Never ask a woman to mend anything," he said. "You haven't been married very long, and I think I can tell you what a good husband I am."

When I got up this morning, my wife said, 'I have a few more laundry to do.'

"I said, 'I don't care that shirt,' and she took it off. 'Now, John, hand it to me.'

"Of course," I said, "I never said the laundry to do."

"Why, John Taylor," she said, "I never thought of extravagance. This is a perfectly good shirt. All I need to do is to turn it inside out."

The following occurs on men and women:

Women are men that have not got as their portion, and girls are women that will be told off by everybody. Men are made before women. When God looks at Adam He says to Himself, "Well, I think I can do better if I try again." And He made Eve, good blood Eve, so much better than Adam. Did there ever be more women than men?

Boys are trouble. They wear out everything but soap. If God may give half the world would be able and the rest dolls.

Men were made, and on the seventh day he rested. Women were then made, and she has never rested since.

STAR PERFORMER

Nutboy Won $10,000

Charter Oak Race

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 4.—Nutboy, the dark bay gelding owned by J. A. Giddens of Quincy, Mass., and driven by McNamee, was the star performer of the opening day of the grand circuit meet at Charter Oak Park yesterday winning the $1000 Charter Oak trotting event two heats out of three. There were 40 entries started, and when the horses went to the post old Nutboy made with great up was the favorite, selling for $90 in pools. Her performance was poor however, and the best she could do was fourth in the first heat.

In the first class pacing and the 200-cl. Ardbell with Greenup and Grant driven by Spencer carried off first money respectively, each winning easily.

In the Charter Oak event in which every heat was a race $500 went to the winner of each heat, $60 to the second, $10 to the third horse under the wire.

In addition to that $500 was given to the horse having the best summary at the end of the third heat.

In the first heat Nutboy not a good start, but the one soon closed in and was neck and neck until a few rotation the wire when she broke and Nutboy won easily. The final heat saw one a winner, Nutboy being at the start and losing this lead by a nose.

OUR GREAT NAVY

President Roosevelt Reviews 45 Fighting Ships

OYSTER BAY, Sept. 4.—On the waters of Long Island Sound within view of Sagamore Hill the president of the United States reviewed yesterday the greatest fleet of American warships ever assembled.

There was a ship of war for every state forty-five in all ranging in size from the magnificent 16,000-ton Louisiana, just completed to the fleet of little torpedo boats and the submarine. In three columns they stretched along the Sound, twelve battleships, four armored cruisers, four protected cruisers, four monitors, six destroyers, six torpedo boats, three submarines, a trooper ship and five auxiliaries.

As the Mayflower dropped her anchor at the head of the fleet on the completion of the review the president descended from the bridge, his face wreath'd in smiles and enthusiastically throwing his arms around the shoulders of a group of senators and representatives excluded.

"Any man who fails to be patriotically inspired by such a sight as this is a mighty poor American, and every American who has seen it ought to be a better American for it."

"And you gentlemen," he said to the naval committee "are responsible for it. It is your handwork and it has all been done within the past ten years. Every one of these ships is a fighter and ready to do battle at a moment's notice. Again you have shown your wisdom in the appropriations for the target practice, for there is where the American navy excels. Our men can shoot, and shoot straight, and thereby lies our naval strength and our superiority."

President Roosevelt had a great day for it was his day throughout. In going from the W. Emlen Roosevelt pier to the Mayflower in an open launch in the morning, he was drenched by rain and spray, and the little launch was tossed about in the roughest manner by the unusually heavy sea which the stiff wind kicked up. The moment he put his foot on the deck of the Mayflower as if by pre-arranged signal the rain suddenly stopped and before the twenty-one gun salute which welcomed him had been completed the sun was shining. From that time until the review was finished not a cloud marred the spectacle.

When the Mayflower reached the head of the column to begin the review

Cured to Stay Cured

How a Lowell Citizen Found Complete Freedom From Kidney Troubles

If you suffer from backache—From urinary disorders—From any disease of the kidneys. Be cured to stay cured. Dean's Kidney Pills make lasting cures. Lowell people testify.

Here's one case of it: Mrs. John A. Kelley, painter of 58 West Third street, Lowell, Mass., says: "My husband and I had decided to use a kidney remedy and decided to try Dean's Kidney Pills, so we purchased a box at Ellingswood & Co.'s drug store. It proved to be just the remedy needed for the sharp pains through the kidneys and other weaknesses of the kidneys which most painters are troubled with were relieved. He was so greatly pleased with the benefit he received that he gave a testimonial for publication recommending them. Now after six years have passed I am glad to say we think as highly as ever of this valuable kidney medicine. I have also used it with gratifying results. We keep them in the house all the time and appeal to them whenever there is the least symptom of a recurrence of the trouble, and they never fail to give prompt and effective relief."

BOTH TEAMS ON THEIR METTLE

Twelve Hundred Fans Were Kept Cheering

shortly after 11 o'clock the deck was surrounded by fully five hundred fans loaded with sightseers to their full capacity.

The reception and luncheon which president and Mrs. Roosevelt assisted by secretary Bonaparte and Mrs. Horanapre tendered to the three rear admirals and the commanding officers of all the ships after the review was the picture of the occasion.

Each officer came aboard in full uniform receiving the honors of his rank in salutes, ruffles and bugle-trills. The reception and luncheon occupied an hour when the president left the Mayflower with Sec. Bonaparte and his secretary Leach to pay visits to the three admirals and to the township Yankee just in with a detachment of marines and to the Santo Domingo.

The crowning feature of the naval review was the illumination of the ships last night begun at a signal from the Maine precisely at eight bells and every flash flashed forth in a glow of light.

The outlines of the hulls, the masts, the stacks, lighting tops and conning towers, illuminated themselves in fire on the black horizon.

The president with his guests on the Mayflower viewed the spectacle. The lights on the ships died out and the greatest naval review of American history was at an end.

QUIET A SUCCESS

WAS STATIONARY FIREMEN'S BALL, LAST NIGHT.

The tenth annual concert and ball of the L. B. Shattock Firemen was held at Hibernian hall last night, and was a great success not alone from a social but from a financial standpoint.

The committee in charge had endeavored to make this year's socialie surpass anything they have before attempted, and in this their most sanguine dreams were more than realized. Hibernian's orchestra furnished the music and over a hundred happy couples participated in the dancing. The concert program and dance order were well arranged. Mr. William C. Kelley was the greatest

CAMBRIDGE CREW

FAILED TO EQUAL THE HARVARD TIME.

PUTNEY, Eng., Sept. 4.—Paced by two "serated eights," Cambridge did a trial from Putney to Hammersmith this afternoon, 5 minutes, 5 seconds. Harvard, in the notable trial of Sept. 1 covered the same course in 7 minutes, 30 seconds. The conditions today were not so favorable, the Cambridge crew encountering a head wind all the way. But against this must be set the fact that Cambridge had the advantage of being paced by strong crews, professionals taking them to the mile post where a Leander crew took up the rowing and held the Cambridge men all the way to Hammersmith bridge. The time of Cambridge at the mile post was 4 minutes, 37 seconds, compared with Harvard's 4 minutes, 31 seconds. Cambridge rowed 53 for the first minute and subsequently dropped to 52.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 4.—Secretary Root and his party, accompanied by Foreign Minister Hunens, the American minister, Mr. Hicks and the reception committee, left Santiago to-day for Valparaiso to inspect the ruins caused by the earthquake, previous to embarking on the United States cruiser Charleston for Callao. The feeling of friendship for the United States here has been strongly increased by Mr. Root's visit. At the reception given at the American legation last night by the American minister, Mr. Hicks, in honor of Mr. Root, which was attended by President Rioja and the diplomatic corps, in addition to the numerous representatives of the American and British legations present, many distinguished Chileans paid marked and kindly attention to the distinguished visitor.

He hit me with his fist in the face and then he struck me on the head with the stove lifter, breaking the lifter and inflictiong a cut in my head that was stitched by doctors at St. John's hospital."

"I lived with the Halowell family for three years," she said. "Mr. Creighton was a great friend of Mrs. Halowell's. They were charged with adultery. They pleaded guilty and were ordered to do one month to do with her."

"He threatened to shoot me on the night before the fourth of July. He came into my room with a loaded revolver, aimed it at my head and threatened to shoot."

"He has been making trouble for me ever since we were married. He has been threatening me."

"He had been drinking on the night of the last assault. I did not notice him in any way."

"I know when I married him that he was a man of property. He told me so."

Mrs. Mary Halowell, the third party in reply to questions, said:

"Mrs. Creighton lived at my house before she was married. They were married from my house."

Mrs. Halowell said that on the evening of the assault she was talking with Mrs. Creighton at the latter's home. She was standing on the sidewalk, she said.

Mr. Creighton asked her what she was doing there.

"I didn't come to see you," she said. Mrs. Halowell did not witness the assault but heard Mrs. Creighton's orders for help.

"She came running out of the house," she said, "and told us to go for a doctor. She was dripping with blood."

When she was going away she tugged at my collar and pulled the whole rigging off. I had to defend myself or she would have pulled my eyes out."

Cross-examined by Mr. Wilson, the following dialogue ensued:

"Find out."

"I'm trying to find out."

"I deny that I ever got drunk."

"You had a revolver taken away from you July 4, didn't you?"

"Yes, I did."

"And you didn't get it back for quite while?"

" Didn't I?"

"I'm asking you!"

"I got it back when I asked for it. The revolver was delivered at the house by the officer who took it."

"You threatened to shoot your wife, didn't you?"

"I did not."

LABOR DAY QUIET BLAMES HERING

Lowell People Observed It Mainly by Leaving Town

Yesterday was Labor Day and it was a very lively one in Lowell. The dignity of labor was not pictured with the vigor of those that have gone.

There was no celebration here and thousands of Lowell people fled to the beaches and the country, disappointed perhaps that Lowell was not having a grand celebration but even after Labor Day the town does not change.

RAILROAD CLERKS.

The clerks of the Boston &amp; Maine Railroad, representing a number of cities in Massachusetts and New Hampshire, engaged in a strike at Willow Dale on Labor day. The attendance was very large. The Mountain Rock attraction an attendance of about 200.

The weather in the forenoon was not at all inspiring and it looked as if it was "all off" for the meeting that had been planned. At noon, however, the sky cleared and the weather took on the "good fellow" aspect with the result that every car that left Merrimack square regardless of what direction it was going was heavily laden. Everybody was having a good time except perhaps the harrow-back who tries to grant and grandmama who refuses to see farther than his nose.

Prominent among the many outings were the Wolf Tone Guards at Nahant, Company G's trip to Wonderland, the show of the Lowell Gun Club in Chelmsford, the cricket game in South Lowell and the railroad clerks at Willow Dale.

DIVISION 8, A. O. II.

The pourrain rain on Labor Day though rather disappointing did not in any way dampen the ardor of the Hibernians and hundreds of members were on the grounds of Mountain Rock shortly after noon.

Among the events on the program was a baseball game, military drill exhibition, running races, etc. Each event was closely contested and results in all cases were excitingly close. John C. O'Rourke had general charge of the sports. In the evening dancing was enjoyed.

WENT TO BEVERLY.

The Trades and Labor Council held their annual outing at Beverly on Labor Day. The party left this city early in the morning and returned to Lowell in the evening.

The party returned late in the evening to Lowell.

WENT TO CRESCENT PARK.

The Eagles held an outing at Crescent Park yesterday. The party left early in the morning and returned to Lowell late last night.

WOLF TONE GUARDS.

The Wolf Tone Guards held their annual outing at Nahant on Labor Day. Companions from Lawrence and Haverhill were in attendance. The drill between the companies was won by the Haverhill boys under the command of Captain Driscoll. The football match was well fought, but Haverhill finally carried off the trophy. Daying was engaged in the evening.

CO. G SHOOT.

Co. G, Sixth Regiment, held a target practice at Dracut range on Labor Day. At noon a good dinner was enjoyed in the upper hall of the ranger house. Captains Wm. Fairweather was one of the guests.

The gun is at dinner. After dinner a special car took the party to Wonderland park, where they enjoyed the sights till late hour. Co. G kept open house at Camp Phalen, Tyngsboro on Labor Day. At noon dinner was served. Pyle, Lemay proving himself a capable chef.

Intermission was taken at 2 p.m. and refreshments served. After an all day game the totals were Zions 10, Wanderers, 8.

PAUL O. STENSLAND, PRESIDENT OF THE WRECKED MILWAUKEE BANK OF CHICAGO.

Stensland Says Bank Cashier Forged Notes

WINSOR R. BISBEE, General Manager.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—A cable despatch to the Tribune from Tangier says:

Paul Stensland's confession, made to Assistant State's Attorney Olsen yesterday, clears up much of the mystery surrounding the events leading up to the crash which involved the ruin of the Milwaukee avenue bank.

He took much of the blame upon himself but declared Cashier Herling was the forger and that Herling got most of the money. He exonerated his Theodore and the bank directors. He declared it he that had spent any money on Leome Langdon Key or any other woman. He declared that he never spent more than $500 a year himself and that all the money he stole he put into real estate or investments in the hope of "making good."

In his heart he was glad he was no longer a wanderer on the face of the earth. "Why," said he, "think of using someone not your own. It is worse than stealing. I did not know it would be so hard to be a fugitive."

Stensland did not deduce himself either with the idea of escaping punishment.

"You have not been found guilty yet; you have a chance to make a fight in court," was suggested.

Stensland laughed and said: "I know what a Chicago jury will do to me. I know Chicago juries."

He said he had made up his mind to flee on the Thursday preceding the Sunday in which he left Chicago. All Stensland made no attempt to deny Moran gubernatorial buttons.

While Alfred Doucette of Nicolet, P. Q., who is visiting in this city, was passing along Lakeview avenue below Aiken street last evening, his attention was attracted by hoarse screams coming from the direction of the Merrimack river. Running to the river bank and looking into the water he saw a small boy struggling in the water. Mr. Doucette quickly waded in and rescued the youngster who gave his name as Dennis Stevens. He was about four years old.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Hercules Payette and Miss Flora Collins were married yesterday morning at St. Louis' church. A nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Roy.

Mr. Eugene Geoffroy, formerly of this city, now of Pawtucket, R. I., spent the holiday in town.

Miss Abby Smith of the Bon Marche is in New York for the week.

John A. Nichols, chairman of the prohibition state committee, is in town today with a liberal supply of John B.

Stensland made no attempt to deny Moran gubernatorial buttons.

There is No Good Reason Against Good Insurance

Nor any substitute for it. Wherever failure to live means financial loss, there is call for insurance. Is your life of financial value to another—your family, partners or business? If so, Life Insurance deserves your attention, and deserves it now.

When it comes to the best kind of Life Insurance, men do not all think alike. There is no desirable kind that cannot be obtained from

THE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY. This is the oldest active Life Insurance Company in America, and the largest and stanchest in the world. It is a Mutual Company. It has no stockholders. Its assets belong to its policy-holders. It has paid them dividends continuously for fifty-six years. Taking its history through,

has done as well for its policy-holders as any company. It should have done better, as has recently been shown. Under the present management all policy-holders may expect unusually favorable results. This is made reasonable by the facts that it is a strictly Mutual Company, operated under New York laws, which are now the best in the world; that its great volume of business means smaller share of expense on each policy, and that the new methods and economies, which are now a part of its constitution, will save immense sums which must go to the policy-holders, as the only proper place.

Q Mr. Charles E. Hughes, who became famous by conducting the investigation of the solidly was as the rock of Gibraltar. I would rather take insurance in a New York company compelled to transact business under these restrictions, than in any company not so restricted, and I believe that will be the sentiment of the people of these United States."

The Boston Went on Rocks at Low Tide

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 4.—A despatch to the Post-Intelligencer from Bellingham says:

The United States cruiser Boston grounded at low tide in a fog on the rocks of Peabody Islands in the Straits of Rosario, 27 miles from here at noon yesterday. The torpedo boat Paul Jones was sent to her assistance. The Princeton proceeded to her destination.

The Boston is the flagship of the Pacific squadron. She has 1,000 tons displacement and carried 50 men.

Captain, command of the cruiser Boston said: "The pumps are discharging of the water easily. I cannot estimate the extent of the damage but there is nothing to fear. We were simply sailing in a very dense fog and ran onto dry land."

The Boston later reached Bellingham.

ELECTION DAY

Vermont Choosing Governor Today

MONTPELIER, Vt., Sept. 4.—National issues do not figure to any extent in the biennial state election which is being held in Vermont today as the contest for governor is not a straight one between the republican and democratic parties. In the two congressional districts there has been little interest as the return of Representatives David J. Foster of Burlington from the first and Kirtledge Haskins of Brattleboro in the second district has been generally conceded by the usual republican pluriality.

The chief point of interest in the state election is the size of the republican vote which Percival W. Clement of Rutland, fusion candidate for governor, will be able to draw from the republican ranks. The democrats have no regular party man in the field. They endorsed the candidacy of Mr. Clement, the nominee of the so-called independent party. Four years ago, 150 of Clement's followers in the republican state convention bolted the party when Gen. John G. McCullough was nominated for governor. Since that time Mr. Clement has not been identified with the republican organization.

The supporters of Fletcher D. Proctor of Proctor, the republican candidate for governor, claim that the republican pluriality will reach about 22,000 or 1,000 above the average by reason of the widespread interest among the voters. The fusionists say they expect that Clement will be successful by 5,000 plurality. The fusionists claim to be receiving strong support in the cities and large towns of Washington, Bennington, and Rutland counties. The strongest is very keen in Rutland, the home of both Proctor and Clement.

The state campaign has been conducted almost entirely on state issues. Clement in all his addresses has claimed that the state government has been too expensive. The republicans claim that there is no question about the unpopularity of the entire state ticket.

The fusionists while claiming the election of Clement do not make any estimate in the vote the other candidates on the tickets, some of whom are democrats and other independents, will receive.

There are several other state tickets. In the field including those of the so-called and prohibitionists. Should Mr. Whitney's residence were not burned was due to the efficient work of several pieces of fire apparatus from Lowell.

There were about fifty tons of hay in the barn, together with some farming implements. The hay was quickly consumed, and the flames leaping high into the air, and the dense volumes of smoke which drifted toward Lowell, could be seen for many miles around.

As a result many people from Lowell were attracted to the scene of the conflagration, and together with Mr. Whitney's neighbors gave assistance in many ways.

The fire was caused by the bursting of a lantern which Mr. Whitney was carrying. He had gone into the barn to look after his horses, and cattle after returning from Lowell. The flames from the lantern quickly ignited the hay, and before Mr. Whitney had an opportunity to secure assistance from other members of the family, the fire was beyond their control.

Neighbors who were attracted by the smoke and flame gave valuable aid to Mr. Whitney and other members of his family in saving the livestock. From the barn the fire spread to the carriage shed, and then to the ice house. The slaughtered house was the next to fall a victim to the flames. Then a small shed caught fire, and the arrival of the Lowell apparatus, which had been telephoned for, prevented the flames from spreading. Water was secured from a nearby brook.

The buildings were insured through the agency of Fred C. Church. The tools and hay will be a total loss.

$40,000 FIRE

Buildings Destroyed in Hildreth Street

A fire entailing a loss of $40,000 took place in Hildreth street Saturday night, it started about 8 o'clock and destroyed a large barn, slaughter house, carriage house and another small building belonging to Henry C. Whitney.

At several other buildings, including Mr. Whitney's residence, were not burned was due to the efficient work of several pieces of fire apparatus from Lowell.

There were about fifty tons of hay in the barn, together with some farming implements. The hay was quickly consumed, and the flames leaping high into the air, and the dense volumes of smoke which drifted toward Lowell, could be seen for many miles around.

As a result many people from Lowell were attracted to the scene of the conflagration, and together with Mr. Whitney's neighbors gave assistance in many ways.

The fire was caused by the bursting of a lantern which Mr. Whitney was carrying. He had gone into the barn to look after his horses, and cattle after returning from Lowell. The flames from the lantern quickly ignited the hay, and before Mr. Whitney had an opportunity to secure assistance from other members of the family, the fire was beyond their control.

Neighbors who were attracted by the smoke and flame gave valuable aid to Mr. Whitney and other members of his family in saving the livestock. From the barn the fire spread to the carriage shed, and then to the ice house. The slaughtered house was the next to fall a victim to the flames. Then a small shed caught fire, and the arrival of the Lowell apparatus, which had been telephoned for, prevented the flames from spreading. Water was secured from a nearby brook.

The buildings were insured through the agency of Fred C. Church. The tools and hay will be a total loss.

Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan were planning to spend Sunday and Labor day with their child. Mrs. Sullivan was to have gone Saturday afternoon and her husband was to join her in the evening. Mr. Sullivan on his arrival in Rockville was surprised to find his wife not there. Not hearing from her Sunday, he became worried and hastened home Monday morning. The medical examiner said Mrs. Sullivan had been dead 24 hours.

THE BUTLERS WON

The Lowell Tub Beat World's Record

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 4.—Fifteen hand tubs, each accompanied by a strong company of men, took part in the bremen's muster which was held at the Nashua fair grounds yesterday afternoon. The muster was one of the most successful ever held here, but there were less entries than last season. The weather was bad for the playout and at intervals a shifting wind blew first down the stream and then across it.

The highest score was made by the Gen. Butler of Lowell, with the wind blowing a gale down the track and the rain falling heavily. Because of the conditions of the weather and wind a number of the participating teams protested against the awarding of the first prize to the Gen. Butlers.

At noon there was a parade of the various companies from the railroad station to the grounds. Nearly every company was accompanied by its drum corps or band and a mascot. A great number of women were attracted to the grounds and took active part in the cheering. The officials of the playout were: Everett S. Putnam and Charles T. Lund, Judges at nozzle; William F. Barnes, J. E. Smith and A. W. Kilpe of Manchester, judges at stream; John W. Connor, H. E. Vanstone and W. E. Kimball of Dunstable, judges at stand. The score was as follows:

WOULDN'T SETTLE CORNER STONE

Arthur W. Lang Knew the Law

DEMANDED NOMINATION PAPERS

Without Putting Down the Cash

Arthur W. Lang of ward 8 is going to run for the legislature from ward 8 and he isn't going to pay the assessment, either.

Mr. Lang appeared at the republican headquarters yesterday and demanded nomination papers, stating that he would be a candidate and that he did not intend to pay any assessment. Clerk George shifted the responsibility onto Chairman David who was not present and Mr. Lang went away. A short time afterward he returned with Squire McEvoy as counsel. Mr. Lang then stated that he would make a legal demand for the papers and he was informed that they would be forthcoming at the proper time.

Candidates are not obliged to settle with the committee but has been a time honored custom of both city committees to assess candidates for the expenses of the headquarters and few candidates have ever balked at the assessment.

OF NEW HOUSE OF WORSHIP LAID SUNDAY

The corner stone of the First Pentecostal church in First street, near Bridge, was laid Sunday afternoon. The services were simple but very impressive.

The church will be ready for dedication by Thanksgiving and there is joy in the hearts of the little band of worshippers who have been working and planning for the new house of worship. The corner stone was placed in position by the masons employed in the construction of the building and the mortar was laid by the pastor, Mr. Biggs. In a cavity in the stone was placed a metal box containing papers giving a historical sketch of the church, the names of the original members, the doctrine of their religion, the records of the last annual meeting of the church society, the names of the members of the building committee and photographs of Rev. A. B. Biggs, the pastor, and the late Rev. C. Bevler, a former Methodist clergyman, who started the fund for the erection of the church.

OUR GREAT NAVY

President Roosevelt Reviews 45 Fighting Ships

OYSTER BAY, Sept. 4.—On the waters of Long Island Sound within view of Sagamore Hill the president of the United States reviewed yesterday the greatest fleet of American warships ever assembled.

There was a ship of way for every state, forty-five in all, ranging in size from the magnificent 16,000-ton Tennessee, just completed to the fleet of little torpedo boats and the submarines, three columns there stretched along the Sound, twelve battleships, four armored cruisers, four protected cruisers, four monitors, six destroyers, six torpedo boats, three submarines, a troop ship and five auxiliaries.

As the Mayflower dropped her anchor at the head of the fleet on the completion of the review, the president descended from the bridge, his face wreathed in smiles and enthusiastically thrusting his arms around the shoulders of a group of senators and representatives exclaiming:

"Any man who feels to be patriotically inspired by such a sight as this is a mighty poor American, and every American who has seen it ought to be a better American for it."

The president with his guests on the Mayflower viewed the spectacle. The lights on the ships did out and the greatest naval review of American history was at an end.

Each officer came about in full uniform receiving the honors of his rank, salutes, ruffles and bugle flourishes. The reception and luncheon which president and Mrs. Roosevelt attended by secretary Bonaparte and Mrs. Bonaparte tendered to the three rear admirals and the commanding officers of all the ships after the review was the finale of the occasion.

Manager Winn brought the Lowell team home yesterday and entertained a crowd of 1200 with one of the best games seen here this season. As many fans remarked: "If they started doing this early in the season Winn would be wealthy now." Winn, who came here as a catcher but who has since proven to be a first class pitcher, was on the slab and a catcher named Galvin from the New York state league, was behind the bat. A bad throw by Galvin lost the game. Two prime favorites, Lew Cross and "Terry" McEvoy, were the battery for Manchester, and old Lew was right there with the goods while he received perfect support. The game was replete with sensational plays. The game last night began with a signal from the Maine grounds at a light bell and every foul flushed forth in a glow of light.

QUIET A SUCCESS

WAS STATIONARY FIREMEN'S BALL

LAST NIGHT.

The tenth annual concert and ball of the L. B. Stationary Firemen was held at Hibberd hall last night, and was a great success not alone from a social but from a financial standpoint. The committee in charge had endeavored to make this year's socialable surpass anything they have before attempted, and in this their most sanguine dreams were more than realized. Hibberd's orchestra furnished the music and over a hundred happy couples participated in the dancing. The concert program and dance order were well arranged. Mr. William C. Kelley was the greatest

Cured to Stay Cured

How a Lowell Citizen Found Complete Freedom from Kidney Troubles

If you suffer from backache—
From urinary disorders—
From any disease of the kidneys,
Be cured to stay cured.
Doan's Kidney Pills make lasting cures.

Lowell people testify.

Here's one case of it:

Mrs. John A. Kelley, painter of 58 West Third street, Lowell, Mass., says:

"My husband had occasion to use a kidney remedy and decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills, so he procured a box at Ellingswood & Co.'s drug store.

It proved to be just the remedy needed for the sharp pains through the kidneys and other weaknesses of the kidneys which most painters are troubled with and relieved. He was so greatly pleased with the benefit he received that he gave a testimonial for publication recommending them. Now after six years have passed I am glad to say we think as highly as ever of this valuable kidney medicine. I have also used it with gratifying results. We keep them in the house all the time and appeal to them whenever there is the least symptom of a recurrence of the trouble, and they never fail to give prompt and effective relief."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milligan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
